

Primeasia University

a mission with a vision

Department of Law

Mid-Term Assessment, Summer Semester, 2021

Course Code: LL.B.-2003

Course Name: Constitutional Law-I

Full Marks: 20

Time: 1 hour

(Answer any two of the following questions. All questions carry equal marks)

1. (3+4+3=10)
  - A. Can the 'basic structures of the Constitution of Bangladesh' be changed by amendment? Answer to the question with reference to relevant provisions of the Constitution and Anwar Hossain Chowdhury vs Bangladesh, 1989 BLD (Spl) Case.
  - B. How constitutional supremacy is maintained in Bangladesh? Discuss the matter in view of the principle of Adv. Asaduzzaman vs Bangladesh (16th amendment case) and relevant provisions of the Constitution.
  - C. 'In broader sense constitutional law includes something more than the written contents of a constitution' Explain
2. (4+6=10)
  - A. Justify 'preamble' as an operative part of the Constitution with special reference to 'Kesavananda Bharati vs State of Kerala, AIR 1973 SC 1461 and Anwar Hossain Chowdhury vs Bangladesh, 1989 BLD (Spl).
  - B. Write a short note on 'Separation of Power and Independence of Judiciary in Bangladesh' with reference to 'Masdar Hossain Case' and relevant provisions of the Constitution of Bangladesh.
3. (5+5=10)
  - A. How does article 27 of the Constitution of Bangladesh combine the English concept of 'equality before law' and the American concept of 'Equal protection of law'? Elaborate the concept with reference to relevant provisions of the Constitution.
  - B. What is 'doctrine of severability'? Answer to the question with reference to appropriate provision of the Constitution of Bangladesh.

